PREACHING PLAN

DECEMBER 2014 – FEBRUARY 2015

SUPER'S SOAP BOX

Dear Friends,

This Quarter we will share in celebrations of worship to announce that Jesus, God's own Son, has come into the world. We do this not just at Christmas, of course, but on every Sunday. As the slogan on the car sticker says: 'God is for life and not just for Christmas'.

One of the things that is challenging me about Christian discipleship at the moment is 'what are the risks that God is challenging me to take as a Christian?' We see our Christian brothers and sisters in Iraq and Syria taking huge risks as they remain faithful to Christ, even if it means their own lives are taken. What does that mean in leafy, quiet (?!!) North East Somerset and Bath?

Which leads me to risk climbing my Super's Soapbox and asking you the same question 'what are the risks that God is challenging me to take as a Christian and as part of His Church? I'm not suggesting irresponsibility or recklessness; I'm asking us to reflect on the huge risk God has taken in sending Jesus into the world that we celebrate at Christmas. He sent His One and Only Beloved Son into the world as a huge risk..... which led to His death. But out of risk comes new life as we celebrate at Easter.

I am very aware that at the moment some of our local churches are making decisions about the future life and mission of their church. They are taking risks, not knowing what the future holds, but relying on God for direction and purpose. New life will occur...but the risky element is not knowing what that looks like.

Some of my colleagues are also at this moment in time going through a time of risk.....called Stationing! They are putting their, and where applicable, their families, at the mercy of the Methodist stationing process to determine where they will minister next September when they move from this circuit. Now it could be argued, and I would certainly be one of those who subscribe to this, that when we responded to the call of God to be presbyters, that call included the stationing process so we 'mustn't grumble'! However we are still human beings and have fears, anxieties and concerns like anyone else.

For some of our churches in January we will be invited to pray the Covenant Prayer which is full of risk taking. For example, 'put me to what you will, rank me with whom you will.....' isn't a comfortable prayer. But it is a prayer that is set in the context of our Covenant God who promises to be with us wherever He takes us.

So let's be risk takers as God calls us to serve Him wherever that leads us, both as individual disciples and as local churches, safe in the knowledge that God has already done a 'risk assessment' and knows where it will lead.

Your risk taking Superintendent,

Stephen

Faith is spelt
